An Air Shaft Explodes in a Mine.

It Kills One Workman Instantly and Injures Three Others So They Will Die.

A Porch Falls With a Crowd at Cardinal Gibbon's Reception Yesterday.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION

Causes the Death of One Man and Injury to Four More.

PITTSBURG, July 12.—A terrific mine explosion occurred yesterday afternoon at Buchtel, Ohio, which resulted in the instant death of one man and the fatal injury of several others. Johnson brothers, of the New Pittsburg mine, were preparing to start up to-day. The coal in this mine has to be gotten out by machinery. Yesterday afternoon a leak was discovered in the compressed air receiver, which furnishes the motive power, and Charles H. Johnson and Tom Williams went into the mine about 250 yards to repair it. They neglected to turn off the pressure and upon attempting to stop up the leak, the end of the receiver burst into fragments, knocking the machinery about and tearing up things generally. Following is a list of the killed and wounded:

Thomas Williams, instantly killed.
Charles H. Johnson, fatally injured.
John Hallam, fatally injured.
L. White, seriously injured.

A PORCH FALLS

And Precipitates 200 People to the Ground.

OAKLAND, Md., July 12.—Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, and the papal nuncio had a reception yesterday at a private residence. About 200 were crowded upon a large porch outside. Suddenly the porch gave way and the crowd fell in a mass among the broken timbers and debris. A scene of great excitement and dismay ensued. About a dozen persons were more or less seriously bruised and cut, but none hurt fatally.

A Canada Pacific Train Burned.

WINNEPEG, Manitoba, July 12.—A portion of the east-bound through express on the Canadian Pacific was burned in the Rocky Mountains, near Conrad, on Thursday night. The ties caught fire from burning timber, near the track and four of the cars were derailed, catching fire instantly. The baggage and express matter was burned and the passengers escaped with difficulty.

Supposed to be Insane.

St. Louis, July 12.—A stranger was found last night wandering aimlessly around and was taken in charge by an officer. He was seventy-one years old with smooth face, long, white hair, well dressed and gave his name as Louis Diehl. $580.70 in money and a check for $5,000 on the First National bank of Logansport, Ind., was found upon his person.

Will Stick to Eight Hours.

St. Louis, July 12.—At a meeting of about 300 carpenters to-day, a resolution was passed deciding to adhere to the eight-hour system. Another meeting will be held in order to get an expression on the question of all the carpenters in the city.

Another Orang Quarrel.

BELFAST, July 12.—During the Orange celebration here to-day a row was occasioned by the passage of a procession through one of the streets. One person was injured.

Railroad Iron for China.

BERLIN, July 12.—Herr Krupp has contracted to supply China with 1,500 tons of rails at a price, including freight, 25 shillings below the lowest English offer.

FRANCE

Arming Her Troops With Repeating Rifles.

PARIS, July 12.—The government has ordered 60,000 repeating rifles to be distributed among the troops before August. This action is attributed to the conduct of Germany in recently arming her battalion at Alsace-Lorraine with similar weapons.

Destructive Forest Fires.

LANCASTER, N. H., July 12.—Sparks from the engine on the Lowell railroad set the forest on fire between the Twin Mountain house and Fabhan's, and the woods have burned for several miles back into the wilderness. Acres of land have been burned over, beside a mile and a half of railroad, two long trestles, two logging camps and 2,000,000 feet of lumber.

TURNED OUT.

An Old Soldier Driven From the Home at Dayton, O.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 12, 1886. To any Dayton newspaper that wants to publish this item:

A soldier, who was born and lived in the great state of Ohio, made application to the proper officials of the Soldiers Home, at Dayton, for admission to the home. Showing the necessary documents to the officials of said home, he was refused admittance, and even refused the honor of making his plea or seeing the great Governor Patrick of the home. He told the red tape officials that he had no money to go away with, so was compelled to stay. They told him they could not do anything for him and that he would be compelled to go. Having no money or friends in the vicinity he came to the conclusion (soldier like) to camp out all night on the grounds, which he thought was as much his home, and in a great many cases more so, than a great many other inmates at present. He slept in Congress hall until 2 o'clock a. m., when he was aroused by a stout robust guard, and taken to the limits of the home, shown the road to Miami-burg and told to "git," and of course he "got." After wandering around on account of meeting a guard on the road, of whom he inquired where he could stay all night, said guard sent him in the wrong way, thereby making him walk about two miles out of his way. He finally got the impression that he had been fooled and took his own course, landed in the city, but could get no bed. Fortune smiles, even if it does come from a hard working street car hostler. The hostler allowed the soldier—of nine hard fought battles, commencing with Shiloh and ending in the siege of Vicksburg, where he lost his left arm at the shoulder joint—to occupy one of the empty street cars, to get a little rest. From there he walked to Dayton, where in one of the common hotels he found board and lodging for a week until he could send home for money to take him away from the place where they erected a monument to the dead already. Hurrah for the next who dies (that is my version of it). I saw the Home. One motto I took notice of especially, which read like this: "Care for him who has borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan." I consider it a barren ideal. Any doctrine that is preached, and not practiced, certainly is not good.

P. S.—I should like all papers to copy, as the guards of the Home must vouch for the truth of my statement.

The two big stables of widow Damon, in Swan township, Noble county, burned last night, together with the horses, wheat, hay and farming implements enclosed in them. No insurance.

Manager J. H. Simonson is at home from New York City.

The Columbia City Post thus refers to Mr. Dial whose death has been mentioned by THE SENTINEL: "Grandfather Dial, died at the residence of his son, John Dial in Washington township, on Thursday, July 1, 1886. He was the oldest person in the county being born July 4, 1790 and only lacked three days of being 96 years old. He was a soldier of the 1812 war and voted for James Madison for president that year. He outlived three generations of people, and saw the country grow from less than 4,000,000 souls to 60,000,000. In the first census of the United States completed in August, 1790, he was one of 3,923,215 souls in the country."

A CHAT!

With Hon. Joseph E. McDonald.

He is Positive in His Belief that Indiana Will Go Democratic This Fall.

The News and Gossip From Both Houses of Congress and the Capital.

HON. JOS. E. McDONALD.

Believes Indiana Will Go Democratic—His Candidacy.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 12.—Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald has returned home after a two weeks' visit at Washington. It was his intention to remain here some time, but in answer to a telegram calling him to Washington on private business, left for that city on an early train this morning. A Sentinel reporter called at his residence last evening and found the Senator in unusual good spirits and quite confident that the democrats would be victorious in the approaching Indiana campaign. In answer to a question as to whether there was any truth in the report lately put in circulation that he had expressed doubts on this matter he said:

"Any rumors that have been put afloat that I had expressed any doubt about carrying the state at the approaching election are utterly groundless. On the contrary, I feel confident that we shall carry Indiana by a handsome majority and have a working majority in both branches of the legislature."

"Is it likely that the president will make changes in his cabinet?" To this Senator McDonald replied: "In my judgment the president is not contemplating any change in his cabinet. All the rumors on the subject are mere rumors. I am very sure the president does not desire any change in the treasury department if there is any possibility of Mr. Manning's return to health. He has been a great and valuable support to Mr. Cleveland thus far, and it would be very difficult, if not impossible to supply his place, not only as a confidential friend, but as a very able cabinet officer. The president naturally feels that if Secretary Manning's health is restored so he could possibly go back, he hopes and believes that he will do so. I do not think any change is thought of in the attorney generalship."

Senator McDonald is of the opinion that congress will adjourn not later than the first of August. There is a strong feeling among congressmen to adjourn at the earliest day possible.

While Senator McDonald did not express himself on the subject it may be said here that his most intimate personal and political friends regard as absurd the rumor put afloat that his name would not likely be presented as a candidate for the United States senate. On the other hand they propose to make a vigorous fight for him in that direction.

WASHINGTON.

The News of the Day at the Capitol.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The senate committee on judiciary this morning agreed to report back the railroad attorney's bill, a majority of the committee consenting to a favorable report on it as it has been materially amended by the committee. Under its provisions congressmen may become attorneys for subsidized or land grant roads in suits between one company and another or between company and individual, but are prohibited from serving as attorneys in cases in which the government has an interest. Protection is extended to other than railroad interests so that congressmen may not serve any corporation as attorneys whose interests are or may become a subject of congressional legislation. The bill will probably be reported to-day or to-morrow.

The chair (by request) introduced a bill to stop all payments of public money to James H. Eads and his associates or assigns, for past, present or future work at the mouth of the Mississippi river, until further ordered by congress. Referred.

The senate resumed the consideration of the calendar. On motion of Mr. Hoar the committee on privileges and elections got permission, during the session of the senate, to report in consideration of the Payne case.

The house bill granting pensions to soldiers and sailors of the Mexican war was considered and passed.

Hugh S. Thompson, of South Carolina, qualified this morning as assistant secretary of the treasury and at noon was visited by all the bureau and division officers of the department, who were presented to him by Chief Clerk Youmans. He called at the white house during the day with Comptroller Trenchum and paid his respects to the president.

Went Over the Falls.

NEW YORK, July 12.—C. D. Graham, a native of Philadelphia, thirty-three years of age, succeeded in making the descent of Niagara Falls and passing through the celebrated whirlpool Sunday. He was imprisoned in a cask and sent over the falls. The cask struck a strong current and passed over the falls and through the whirlpool in which Captain Webb lost his life, rapidly, and Graham was released five miles below unhurt, save a few bruises.

British Politics.

LONDON, July 12.—Neither party has made any gains in the parliamentary elections to-day. The Tories now have elected 291 candidates, unionists 66, liberals 154 and Parnellites 74.

Lord Salisbury has made overtures to Lord Hartington for the formation of a coalition ministry, whose program shall include a local government bill for Ireland, Scotland and England.

Fresh Conflicts in Albania.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 12.—Fresh conflicts have taken place between Montenegrins and Albanians. The Montenegrin government has notified the port that Montenegrin will intervene with arms unless the port represses the Albanians.

VIENNA, July 12.—In Trieste during the past twenty-four hours, two deaths have occurred from cholera and eight new cases were reported.

The Knights of Pythias.

TORONTO, Ont., July 12.—The Knights of Pythias divisions continue to arrive and the streets have a brilliant appearance as the uniformed divisions, led by their bands, march along. The reception committee are at their wits' end to find accommodations for several divisions which were not expected.

A Minister Bound Over.

BOSTON, July 12.—Rev. W. W. Downs was arranged this morning on a charge of bastardy preferred by Alice Wilson, and was bound over in the sum of $800 for trial in the present court.

An Explorer.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Colonel Gilder, a Herald representative, will start this evening on an exploring expedition of the unknown regions of the North American continent.

A Big Burglary.

CINCINNATI, July 12.—Burglars took $1,000 to $2,000 from the safe of the Consolidated Railway company this morning at Fifth and Walnut streets.

Up to noon yesterday there had been eight fires in Terre Haute within forty-eight hours, two of which were quite serious. Wednesday night the upper stories of Stamb's livery stable were burned, involving a loss of $4,000. Yesterday morning the stable attached to the Filbeck house was burned, causing a loss of $2,000, on which there was $1,500 insurance, $750 of it in the Franklin of Indianapolis. Seven of the eight fires were in stables. About noon another alarm was turned in for a fire in the stable of Mr. H. Hulman. The loss was about $300.

CHOICE BITS.

The News That is Culled for the "Sentinel" Readers.

The Purdue university trustees are now in session, and will probably take some action in regard to the troubles existing there.

A company has been organized at Kokomo, with a capital stock of $6,500, for the purpose of putting in the Thompson & Huston system of electric light.

A five-year old son of N. B. Jewell, of Vincennes, was seriously burned on one side, from head to foot, by setting his clothes on fire with matches. His condition is dangerous.

Rev. E. E. Dickenson, of Noble county, graduate of the Hillsdale college, Mich., has been elected president of Ridgeville college, and will take charge of that institution in September. Rev. S. D. Bates resigned on account of ill health.

The prohibition congressional convention of the Eleventh district nominated Hon. John Ratliff, of Grant, for congress. He had been a life-long republican up to the organization of the prohibition party.

A number of gentlemen while prospecting for an oil well location, near Andrews, in a ravine, north of the village, came upon a spring which was flowing crude oil, as it were. The stream is as large as a man's arm. A well will be sunk on the spot.

Superintendent Holcombe has returned from a visit to the Northern Indiana normal school at Valparaiso. He reports that there is an actual attendance there of 1,500 students, and that there are 500 in one grammar class. Fifty thousand dollars will be spent there in improvements and new buildings this summer.

At Oswego, Kosciusko county, the eight-year-old daughter of H. H. Johnson was engaged in swinging, when her comrades wound up the swing, as is frequently done, leaving it to unwind itself she, of course, occupying the seat in the swing. After the unwinding process began, a wonderful velocity was imparted, and when it ceased she was found to be almost insensible, and died from the effects soon afterward.

George H. Post, postmaster at New Era, Dekalb county, was taken to Indianapolis charged with opening and detaining a registered letter addressed to Chas. H. Warner, of Payne, Ohio. He waived preliminary examination and gave a one-thousand-dollar bond for future appearance. Post has been postmaster for ten years and is a man of good standing. His offense is said to be not very serious.

JUDGE GARY, in the anarchist trials at Chicago, has made a number of good rulings as to the qualification of jurors. Although the words of this excellent Judge do not speed the course of justice in the cases, they may be cited as authority to expedite future trials. In one case Judge Gary decided that, because a man had formed an impression as to the guilt or innocence of accused parties from reading the newspapers, this need not disqualify him from serving as a juror. He held also that it was impossible for an intelligent man to read about any occurrence without forming some sort of an impression with regard to that occurrence. But the impression received would not prevent a man from arriving at an honest and fair judgment concerning the matter from the evidence offered to him. Judge Gary has further ruled that because a man is prejudiced against some form of crime that is not a sufficient reason in law to object to his serving as a juror in a case when the person on trial is charged with such an offense. Every man fit to serve on a jury is presumed to have a natural antipathy against violation of the law.

An old stager who has shaken hands with many a lady of the White House, tells me he likes the way Mrs. Cleveland shakes hands better than any President's lady of the past. Said he: "Mrs. Cleveland shakes hands as though she meant it. She looks you in the eye and tries to catch your good-will before she puts out her hand. She grasps it firmly and gives it a perceptible shake. She uses the whole arm, and does not shake only from the wrist or the elbow. Mrs. McElroy was too stiff and stick-like. Miss Cleveland turned her face away from you when she shook hands with you, and she did not appear to be at home. Mrs. Cleveland feels that she is doing the honors of the White House, and that she has a right to. She acts as a lady would act who was presiding over her own home, and she is apparently as cordial in her gestures."

New Zealand Villages Disappear From the Face of the Earth and Man and Beast Perish

Lake Shore Freight Trains are Wrecked To-day by the Striking Switchmen.

THREATENED STRIKE.

The Packing House Employees Will Probably Strike.

CHICAGO, July 12.—It is asserted to-day that an extensive strike is threatened in the packing houses of this city.

The Lake Shore company transacted more business yesterday than it has on any other day during the strike. It handled 2,000 cars.

MORE TROUBLE.

About 4 o'clock this morning a switch on the Lake Shore road was turned at Forty-fifth street, while a local freight was passing, and several cars were derailed.

At noon another switch was turned and over twenty cars were run on to the Rock Island main track, and now the Rock Island and Lake Shore tracks are blocked.

'AWFUL HAVOC.

Most Destructive Volcanic Eruptions and Earthquakes in the World's History.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The steamer Alameda, which arrived yesterday from Australia, brings particulars of the fearful volcanic eruptions in New Zealand last month, which are among the most destructive in the world's history. The first reports of volcanic disturbances came from Tauranga in Auckland Lake district. Mount Tareivera was the first volcano to break forth, and hardly were flames seen issuing from its crater than the entire Peeroa range of mountains belched forth in sympathy, hurling flames of burning lava and stones over the surrounding country. For the first time in tradition the extinct volcano of Ruapehu was awakened into activity. The entire country over an extent of 120 miles by twenty in breadth was nothing but a mass of flame and hot, crumbling soil, which in places rose to a height of 4,000 feet.

Numerous small native villages were totally destroyed. Wairoa was covered to the depth of ten feet with dust and ashes. Rathomahan was completely engulfed, so were also some other small villages. One hundred and twenty persons are known to have lost their lives, among whom were several English residents.

The loss of cattle, starved to death from destruction of pasture by dust, is very great, and great distress exists throughout all Auckland Lake district.

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Wheat opened strong, 1@13c. higher; later ruled weak and lost most of the advance, No. 2 red for August 88@90c. Corn, 4@4c. better but dull, 42@47c. Oats at 35@45c.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Wheat, strong at 1c. higher than Saturday, 80 1/2c.; for August 81 1/2c. Corn, higher, 37 1/2c. Oats, firmer, 29 1/2c.

The Indiana Civil Service association has begun in earnest the collection of information bearing upon alleged abuses in the public institutions of Indiana, presumably for the purpose of having at command data that will tangibly establish the necessity of a state civil service law. The executive committee, headed by State Senator Foulke, met at the Denison house, Indianapolis, Saturday last, and examined several witnesses touching the method in vogue at the insane hospital and other institutions. The evidence will be taken by a short-hand reporter and preserved.

English Gourmands.

(From the Cincinnati Ohio Post.)
Recently a gentleman interested in the subject of dyspepsia, had occasion to look up statistics, and his report thereon is quite interesting. He finds that this complaint prevails principally among people of moderate living, and others of prejudiced views who oppose the use of stimulants in any form, and that among the more wealthy classes and those who maintain a sideboard, there are comparatively few cases of dyspepsia. He claims that in England, where there are the most immoderate eaters and gourmands of the world, and where the most indigestible edibles are indulged in—such as plum pudding and veal pies at night—dyspepsia is almost unknown. Englishmen laugh at the feeble and debilitated stomachs of Americans, and any American who has traveled in England will tell how he was ridiculed at the mention of dyspepsia. Their exemption from diseases of this kind, this writer claims, is due entirely to the stimulants they drink with their meals—children as well as grown people, of all ages—and yet despite this free use of stimulant, there is comparatively little drunkenness among the English. He goes further to say, that there is a natural, in-born craving for stimulation, and on account of the great varieties and indigestible qualities of the food of the present day, stimulant is as necessary as the food itself. It is a question, he maintains, whether the people of this country are not straining their ideas and prejudices against the use of stimulants to a dangerous extent and to the destruction of the health of the people. This stupid opposition to a judicious use of the same, especially when we have a pure article like Duffy's pure malt whiskey, has done more harm and been the cause of more misery—as evidenced by the thousands of dyspeptics and other invalids whose complaints are directly traceable to imperfect digestion—than could ever arise from even a free indulgence in the use of liquors. The waste and decay of the lungs is always closely associated with, and follows almost directly upon, a weakened stomach and impaired digestion, and in fact, nearly all complaints that human flesh is heir to originate from this source, and hence the comfort kings almost alone upon this point.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Congress, 12th District,
HON. ROBERT LOWRY, of Allen.

THE Chinese carpenters of San Francisco, fifteen in number, have formed a union, and now settle their own price on their labors. Up to a year and a half ago the rate was $2.50 a day, but at that time they struck for $3 a day, and have maintained the latter price ever since. They only do light carpenter work, and consequently do not interfere much with white carpenters. They have abandoned their old-style tools, such as the two-handed plane and the back-set saw, and they now use exclusively the American tools.

THE natives of New Britain, an island in the Pacific, have a custom of caging their daughters until they reach the marrying age. This plan saves a deal of trouble and expense, as may be seen at a glance. There are no elopements in New Britain, and there are no bankruptcies by reason of heavy demands for spring bonnets. In fact, the natives make very parsimonious use of clothing, wearing but a narrow cloth about their loins. They would make splendid cigarette photographs.

THE immigration statistics for May show that the tide is still checked. The total for the month was 55,233, while for the corresponding month in 1885 it was 62,627. For the eleven months ending May 31 the total was 284,274, against 306,902 in the corresponding period of the previous year. It is an interesting fact that the greatest falling off for the month is in German immigration, which was nearly 10,000 less than in May, 1885. In the number from Great Britain and Ireland there was an increase of 1,500. The number from the several countries was as follows: England and Wales, 6,702; Ireland, 11,645; Scotland, 1,763; Germany, 11,456; France, 325; Austria, 1,612; Bohemia and Hungary, 2,229; Russia, Finland, and Poland, 2,387; Sweden and Norway, 9,196; Denmark, 1,222; Netherlands, 449; Italy, 4,046; Switzerland, 653; all other countries, 547.

FRANK GROSCH is a hotel proprietor at Wernersville, Pa. Recently he received a letter from Washington asking whether he could accommodate President Cleveland and bride for a few weeks. This letter appears to have been the work of some unauthorized person. Groesch at once wrote to Congressman Ermentrout, who represents his district, and he promptly wrote Col. Lamont for further particulars. Col. Lamont denied the report. In the meantime the news was heralded throughout the country, which brought many letters and telegrams of inquiry. Then several papers hinted that the President had better keep away from that resort unless he wanted to reduce his weight by starvation. This, Groesch claims, is very ruinous to him, and he is now preparing to bring a suit against some one—who, it is not known—for damages.

OCCUPYING a Pullman stateroom on an Erie train the other evening, says the Elmira Advertiser, was a man named A. Hirsch, a Chicago dealer in jewelry. He was on his way to Europe with his family, and exhibited to passengers on the train a very curious watch of his own invention, of which he is also the patentee. It is a time-keeper which requires no winding. An arrangement something like the nicely balanced lever of a pedometer is so applied to the spring of the watch that the motion of the body in walking winds the timepiece. During seven minutes of walking the wearer of a watch winds it so that it will run forty-two hours. When wound up the watch sets a cat-h automatically, to stop the operation of the winding lever. The watch, Mr. Hirsch says, has been pronounced a success in all particulars by the Elgin Watch Company, and he expects to reap a big fortune by it.

At a reception to Rev. Dr. Seward, in New Britain, Conn., recently, reminiscences were in order. It was said that Dr. Seward insisted, when appointed pastor in 1836, that he should not be called upon for more than two public services each Sunday; that one member of the church shortly afterward prayed that the pastor would receive grace to preach in the morning, and afternoon, and, "if his strength held out, he might continue in the evening." Dr. Seward told of receiving a bushel of turnips once for marrying a couple, and some years later the bridegroom appeared and passed out a $10 bill, saying that "his wife had turned out so well that he felt justified in the expenditure." A man once came into church late, and started, with squeaky boots, to walk the whole length of a side gallery, when an exchange pastor stopped suddenly in his prayer, opened his eyes, and pointing a long finger at the disturber, said: "You sit right down where you are." He then resumed his prayer.

THE CHICAGO RACES.

MAGNIFICENT RACING CLUB HOUSE
IN THE BREEZY CITY.

Pictures of Washington Park Club House—Gen. Phil Sheridan, President of the Association—Ike Murphy, Lucky Baldwin's $6,000 a Year Colored Jockey.

It was a shrewd stroke of business to elect Gen. Phil Sheridan president of the Washington Park Racing club, in Chicago. New York itself could not find so picturesque and so valuable a figure to set up at the head of any of its horse associations. But Chicago is young New York, with most things on a new, broad scale. It attains the best in whatever it undertakes.

About the last of the year 1882, a number of Chicago gentlemen, with the greatness of their windy city at heart, met and discussed plans for a horse club. Its objects were to promote good feeling, raise the standard of horses and horse breeding, and lastly, and perhaps away down in each gentleman's heart, great to all, "exhibiting horses at meetings," in other words, racing.

In 1883, January, the association took shape regularly, under the name of Washington Park club. Very soon after Gen. Sheridan was elected president of the club. He was not the general of the army then, but became so soon after, and since then he has not been too proud to continue the leading officer of the Chicago horse club.

The general is 53 years old now, and good for many many more Chicago horse races, let us hope. He was only 20 when he graduated at West Point. He took to horses away back, when he was a boy in Ohio. Gen. Hancock called him "A whirlwind with spurs on." He himself was the observed and admired of all at the recent summer races of the Washington club. He sat in the judges' stand and watched the running with deep interest, very gray as to his hair now, since the twins have made so many demands on him, but erect, jaunty and bright eyed as ever. The general looks like a rather tall nun when he is sitting down, but when he stands it is perceived that his lower limbs are short. While he was in the judges' stand his brother, Michael V., wandered about among the horsemen.

CLUB HOUSE.
The grounds of the club contain eighty-three acres, and comprise one of the largest race tracks in the country. The landscape is beautifully laid out with trees, shrubs, walks, flowers, and miniature lakes. The grand stand has a seating capacity of 10,000. The club house proper has accommodations for members and their families, dining rooms for both ladies and gentlemen, and a sumptuous table service, whose silverware is stamped with a stirrup and whip bent in the shape of a "W." There are magnificent stables and plenty of lodging rooms for jockeys.

Fifteen thousand people attended the great race of the summer series lately. It was a running race for young horses. The old favorites were largely backed. There were nearly all the runners that had covered themselves with glory at the Louisville Derby—Ben Ali, Blue Wing, Precious, and others. Ben Ali, who won at Louisville, was first favorite in the betting. Everybody believed he or Blue Wing would come out ahead. The horses of two California stables occupied much prominence in the talk before the race. One owner was J. H. Higgins, to whom belonged Ben Ali and Ban Fox, the other was the eccentric Lucky Baldwin, with his racers from his Santa Anita stables. To him belonged Silver Cloud, the horse that, amid tremendous cheering and excitement, came in winner.

CLUB HOUSE FIREPLACE.
In a city as cold as Chicago artificial heat other than that obtained at the gorgeous club bar, is sometimes required even during races. To meet this need the office of the club house is provided with arrangements for an open fire. The fireplace is a fine specimen of American artistic accomplishment.

The race was intensely exciting. Lucky Baldwin has a certain little colored jockey whom he pays $6,000 a year to ride his horses at races. He seems to be the greatest jockey America has produced. He is said to be superior to Archer, the Englishman. Either his luck or his skill is something marvelous. They call him the "wonderful little nigger." At the Chicago races Silver Cloud was not expected to win at all. But Ike Murphy, the little colored jockey, was upon his back, and he dashed in a length ahead of Blue Wing.

The Chicago Herald says of the scene that followed:
"As Murphy came in under the wire he was greeted with a storm of applause, and when he dismounted men ran up to him and patted him on the back. One man in a blue suit threw his arms around his neck as though he was about to chew his ear. The great jockey was presented with a beautiful saddle and was nearly borne off the track by men who thought he would win and had backed up their guesses with greenbacks and coin."
The result of the race was a surprise to the knowing ones who had bet their money on Blue Wing and Ben Ali. It was a surprise to Jockey Murphy, who said:
"I didn't expect the horse would win at all. After he had run a mile he saw that he was behind and then he began to sulk. That's an old trick of his, and I just touched him up and gave him a word of encouragement. The way he shot to the front nearly took my breath away, and I had to laugh to myself all the way down the stretch. The horse wanted some encouragement, that's all."

JUDGES' STAND.
"Lucky" Baldwin, who wins about $8,000 in stakes, did not back his horse to win. He had little hope of seeing Silver Cloud get a place, much less winning the race. After he had congratulated the jockey he riveted his plug hat on the back of his head and began to stroll about the grounds as though he were lost. Old horsemen who saw him said that the Californian was "kicking" himself. "Silver Cloud won the race just because Murphy was on his back," said a man. "The next time I see that fellow on a horse I'm going to play him, no matter if it's a saw-horse he's on."

100 Doses One Dollar.
Is inseparably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. It is an unanswerable argument as to strength and economy, while thousands testify to its superior blood-purifying and strengthening qualities. A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses and will last a month, while others will average to last not over a week. Hence, for economy, buy only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

GEORGE RILEY, of Schenectady, who has just had his hand crushed in a drill press, is not a fortunate youth. When very small he fell off a fence and broke his nose. Later he was nearly drowned; then his toes were crushed by the cars; then he broke his nose again; then his head was crushed between the bumpers of railroad cars; and when the skating-rink was opened he was the first to hurt himself, breaking his arm.

How often is the light of the household clouded by signs of melancholy or irritability on the part of the ladies. Yet they are not to be blamed, for they are the result of ailments peculiar to that sex, which men know not of. But the cause may be removed and joy restored by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," which, as a tonic and nerve for debilitated women, is certain, safe and pleasant. It is beyond all compared the greatest healer of women.

TIRED OUT!

At this season nearly every one needs to use some sort of tonic. BROWN'S IRON BITTERS enters into almost every physician's prescription for those who need building up.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
—THE BEST TONIC—
For Weakness, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, etc. It HAS NO EQUAL, and is the only iron tonic that does not injure the system. It enriches the blood, invigorates the system, restores appetite, aids digestion. It does not blacken or irritate the bowels, does not produce constipation—other iron medicines do. Dr. G. H. BUNLEY, a leading physician of Springfield, Ohio, says:
"Brown's Iron Bitters is a thoroughly good medicine, and my practice and find its action extends to all other forms of iron. In weakness, or a low condition of the system, Brown's Iron Bitters is usually a positive necessity. It is all that is claimed for it."
Dr. W. N. WATERS, 1219 Thirty-second Street, Georgetown, D. C., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters is the tonic of the age. Nothing better. It creates appetite, gives strength and improves digestion."
Genuine has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by BROWN CHEMICAL CO., BALTIMORE, MD.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

ABOUT LEADING MEN AND MEASURES.

A Congressman's Expenses—Where the money goes—Sam Cox in Turkey—Morrison and his tariff worry—One dirty White House—Judge Kelley and Gen. Wheeler.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Upon what sum can an economical congressman live at Washington?

I asked this question of General Ben Lefevre, of Ohio, as we rode out to the Capitol in a herd to-day. He replied: "It costs me $8,000 a year with no extra expenses for lunches and theatres. I don't believe a man can live here decently on less, and pay the proper attention to his district. He has to have his stenographer and clerks to send out his documents and run his errands. His board costs a good round sum, and he must buy a lot of reports and speeches to keep his people informed. I send out thousands of speeches which I have to pay for, and I send them to every man in my district, Republican and Democrat. I have sent out 10,000 of Judge Kelley's speeches on the tariff, and an equal number of Sam Randall's and Bill Morrison's. I used to send out a great many of Garfield's speeches, and make it a principle to see that every man in my district gets something. I have no family to add to my expenses and I find I can't afford to stay here and pay out $8,000 a year for the sake of patriotism. I have announced to my district that I will not be again a candidate."

Gen. Lefevre is but one of many of the present congress who have come to look upon congressional life as a profitless business, and who have decided to get out of it. Martin Foran, one of the leading labor congressmen, tells me he is too poor to accept a renomination, and I understand that Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, has decided to leave the house and devote himself entirely to the practice of law. Barbour, of Virginia, has also announced his intention of retiring, though there is a considerable pressure to have him continue in the house.

The day is fast coming when only very rich men or poor men without brains can afford to remain in congress. There is no money in the business legitimately, and the oldest members of congress are a rule poor men. Sam Randall has been here twenty-two years, and it is doubtful whether he is worth more than $10,000 to-day. Judge Kelley is not rich, and Tom Reed, Speaker Carlisle and Holman have added but little to their piles since they came to congress years ago. Holman is perhaps worth $10,000, but he inherited the most of this and he has lived very economically here.

The cost of living at Washington becomes more and more expensive year by year, and the congressman of to-day leads a far different life than did the statesman in Webster's time. Then the majority of men came to congress without their wives. They boarded at boarding houses, in what were called messes, and $1 a day was then a pretty fair charge for room and board. Now it is the fashion for a congressman to bring his wife with him, and to either live at a hotel or to keep house. The charges at the first-class hotels here range from $4 a day and upwards, and it is not uncommon for a congressman to pay $100 a week and more as hotel bills. Instances occur every session in which members pay $1,000 a month at hotels, and if a congressman wishes to live in rooms outside of a hotel, and walk out for his meals, he cannot get a good parlor and bedroom for less than $100 a month. If one keeps house and rents one furnished room in a fashionable location his rent will run all the way from $100 a month for a house of six or eight rooms to $1,000 a month for a house something like Senator Blaine's, which rents for $13,000 a year on a five years' lease. If he wishes to entertain at all his six or eight room house will not do, and he must have one that rents for $2,000 or $3,000 a year at least; and if he gives many dinners he will soon find that his living expenses are several times his rent. One cannot give cheap dinners in Washington, and if a senator accepts invitations to repasts which cost $20 a plate he must give like dinners in repaying them. It is not an uncommon thing for a single dinner here to cost $1,000, and we are advancing so fast toward the customs of Europe that a dinner without wines is not in fashion. When Ewart was secretary of state his expenses cost him, I am told, from $20,000 to $30,000 more than his salary, and Senator Sherman told me not long ago that as secretary of the treasury he spent more in entertaining than the $8,000 a year which he received as cabinet officer.

The entertainments of a number of congressmen during the past year have run well up into the thousands, and these sleeping, eating and drinking expenses are by no means the only necessary ones. In the first place, there is the stenographer and the clerk, which the statesman must have if he does not wish to change himself into an errand boy and a hack. Some congressmen often receive 100 letters a day, and the answering of this mail alone would cost an impossibility. Then come the social expenses, and the matter of cab fares, if you do not keep a horse, is a big one. The congressman's wife cannot make her calls in the street cars, and if she is in the swim she will need a carriage both day and night during the session. Her dresses will cost her more than at home, and the congressman finds a thousand little extras, such as jewelry, diamonds and cards, which he had not dreamed of in the backwoods village from which he came. The expense of calling cards is a little thing which might be mentioned as one of many items. It is not uncommon for a man to $20 to $100 to be spent in the carous for a season, and more when any engraved invitations are sent out. No one uses printed cards nowadays, and etiquette prescribes a different style of cards almost every year. The result is that the congressman finds that, long before the session is over, he is living far beyond his income and that there is no chance of retrenchment.

Some of our rich congressmen are also tired of this life. Charles Felton, of California, who is perhaps the richest man in the house, does not intend to come back. His decision is not on the grounds of expense, for he says it costs him more to live at home than it does here. He is dissatisfied with the slow methods of doing things, and does not like so much talking and so little work. Abe Hewitt has gotten tired of congressional life; and Sam Cox, just before he left for Turkey told me that he accepted the position because he was tired of thrashing over and over again the same old straw in the house of representatives.

Speaking of Cox, he is making a great success of it in Turkey. The sultan has paid him especially high honors, and I have received a French and English paper from him to-day containing a long account of a banquet which the sultan gave at the first of this month in his honor. The sultan paid special attention to Mr. Cox at this dinner, and Sam Cox made one of his pretty little speeches in reply, which had, however, to be filtered through the interpreter before the sultan could understand it. One of the princes played the piano for the party, and the sultan showed Mr. Cox a portfolio of photographs which President Cleveland had just sent him. Mr. Cox has been doing some literary work since he went to Turkey, and I don't doubt he will write a book about the country after he returns. He has been a great traveler, and has written about all the places he has visited in the past. His first book, called "The Buckeye Abroad," was a success, and his later one, entitled "The Sunbeams of Southern Europe, of the Arctic and the Orient," is still a standard work of travel. He told me once that his "Why We Laugh" paid him better than any of his smaller works, but he has now a great reputation, and if he writes a book about Turkey it will sell well.

I noticed W. W. Morrison very particularly in the house to-day, and it seems to me that he is creeping very fast into his beard and hair. His beard is almost white, and though his face is full and unlined, his dark hair is mixed with silver strands. The worry of the tariff is telling upon him and the fact that he is able to do so little when he wants to do so much is his constant worry and regret. Morrison's position as head of the ways and means committee, is no pleasant one. He is blamed with many things with which he has nothing to do, and his life is one of continuous hard work. Like Frank Hurd, he believes that he has a mission and that mission is the reformation of the tariff. He is honest in his belief, and he does everything he can to accomplish it.

The White House will soon need a new coat of paint. In fact it needs it now, and that badly. When it was draped in honor of the deaths of Grant and Hendricks, the material used was of heavily dyed black. The rain saturated this, and the colors ran in dripping streams down the plain white paint, so that the whole has now a streaked, mottled appearance of dirty white and black. The cost of painting the White House is quite an item. It covers, you know, one-third of an acre, and its color from time immemorial has been a plain white. The material used is white lead, and that now on the walls is about a quarter of an inch in thickness. The interior paint of the White House was renewed during Arthur's term, and the main hall leading to the East room had to have its old paint burnt off before the new could be put on. A gasoline lamp and a chisel were used, and the paint was burned and then scraped off with the chisel.

At this writing the carpets are still down in the White House. They will be taken up shortly, and the floors will be covered with matting. No repairing has been done in honor of Mrs. Cleveland as yet, and her quarters are practically the same as those occupied by the president when he was a bachelor. The only changes made, however, are in a sociable arrangement of the furniture and in the putting in of a number of home touches in the private apartments of the president. It is probable that Cleveland's marriage will bring the question of a new White House very prominently before the next congress, and we will have plenty of plans for additions to the old executive mansion. A number of the prominent architects of the country have had the subject under consideration, and Mr. Smithmeyer, the man who planned the new national library, has prepared one which leaves the present White House as it is, and at the same time makes such additions as to form a larger and still symmetrical whole.

Robert P. Porter, ex-member of the tariff commission, and the author of the protective tariff letters published under the title of "Broad Winners Abroad," will sail for Ireland on July 3, and will devote his summer to writing industrial letters from that country to a syndicate of American newspapers.

Mrs. Lillian Roselle Messenger, one of the bright Kentucky women of the capital city, publishes this week a volume of poems entitled "The Vision of Gold." They are metaphysical somewhat in their character and contain many good thoughts.

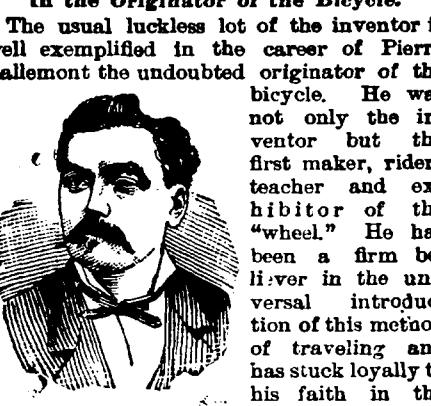

Col. Lamont tells me that the president has not decided where he will go for the summer, and the various stories started about the Adirondacks, the White Mountains and the Great Lakes are advertising schemes gotten up by interested parties. Col. Lamont thinks that the president will probably go to the same place in the Adirondacks where he was last year, but as yet the extent of the trip has not been determined upon.

Gen. Joe Wheeler, the man who raised such a tempest in congress about Stanton, is a little fellow with a thick, long black beard all over his face. He does not weigh over 100 pounds, and he is as lively as a kitten. He has bright black eyes, a high forehead and brown hair. He dresses in business clothes, wears a slouch hat and often walks about the house with this doubled up under his arm. He does not pay much attention to his personal appearance, and you would never take him for a man who had had a noted career as one of the greatest cavalry leaders of a large army. He lives here at Washington in a house big enough for a club, and one which was occupied last year by the Chinese legation. This house faces the back of the statue of Gen. Thomas, and Gen. Wheeler has the pleasure of seeing one of the generals he fought against during the late unpleasantness whenever he looks out of his front parlor window. Gen. Wheeler is a very well and he is very popular socially, though there are many differences of opinion as to his speech regarding Stanton.

General Ben Lefevre tells me there is no truth in the statement that he is engaged to Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland. He does not know her at all intimately, and he cannot conceive what foundation there was for the report. I am told that the life of Lincoln, upon which Colonel John Hay and Major John G. Nicolay are engaged, is to be a very extensive affair. It is to contain seven large volumes and is to be a complete history of the war period. Messrs. Hay and Nicolay have been writing at it for some years, and they write a chapter about each taking the parts of the work which is most agreeable to him. They have made a very careful examination of the records for the work and they have many valuable papers and much data, which they got during their experience as the private secretaries of President Lincoln.

INVENTOR OF THE "WHEEL."

The Inventor's Luckless Lot Illustrated in the Originator of the Bicycle.

The usual luckless lot of the inventor is well exemplified in the career of Pierre Lallement the undoubted originator of the bicycle. He was not only the inventor but the first maker, rider, teacher and exhibitor of the "wheel." He has been a firm believer in the universal introduction of this method of traveling and has stuck loyally to his faith in the future of the bicycle in the face of obstacles without number. He has lived to know that there are at present in use 500,000 bicycles. Others have reaped fortunes as the fruit of his invention, while his reward is a position in the workshops of the Pope Manufacturing company at Boston, and the little glory that an article like this may give him.

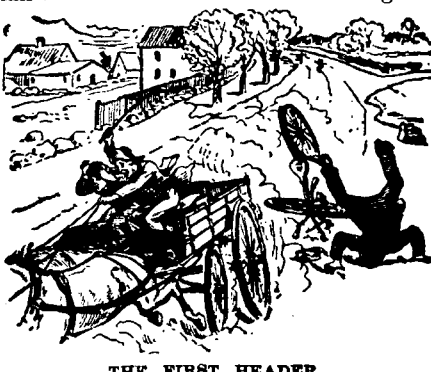

The original two-wheeled velocipede was patented in France in 1816 by Baron Von Drais, and was called the Draisine. It created a sensation at the time and was the subject of satire and much comment. Enclosures were built wherein the beaus of the period could practice balancing themselves on the new machine and exhibit their agility before their admiring belles.

The above illustration is from a print of 1819. It shows the very first detail the Draisine of that day. The rider balanced himself on a saddle midway between the fore and hind wheels, which were of equal diameter. The front wheel turned as does the present bicycle, while there was a cushioned arm rest to give steadiness to the arms. The machine was propelled by padding with the feet, and when sufficient momentum was obtained, or when going down an incline, rests were provided for the feet at the axle of the fore wheel. We now have a manufacturer of baby carriages and invalid chairs. His pay was so small that it was a full year before he could purchase and beg the parts necessary to complete his machine. But now his real trouble began when he attempted to ride it, as any one can understand who has tried it and remembers his early experiences. Supposing the reader was given one of the modern bicycles to ride. He had never seen a machine like it before, and was not certain that it ever could be propelled safely. Supposing also that in his success as a rider depended the introduction of the machine as a vehicle? How many bicycles would be in use to-day? Yet this was the task Lallement had before him; heavy and awkward as his machine was he had to demonstrate its use. But with a persistency, the outcome of necessity, he succeeded so well that in July, 1863, he had confidence sufficient to give his first public exhibition in the streets of Paris. The poorly constructed machine soon shook to pieces on the pavements of Paris. No one assisted the young inventor with means to make another, so he was obliged to abandon the idea.

Then Lallement looked to America, where he believed the people were quicker to catch at new ideas. He gave his whole energy to acquiring sufficient means to carry him across the Atlantic. He arrived in America in July, 1865, with the two wheels of his machine. He sought out Connecticut, the land of wooden clocks and nutmegs, and settled in Ansonia. He soon found employment, and from savings from his earnings was enabled to complete a second machine in a few months after his arrival. Then he tried his first real journey on it, which was from Ansonia to Birmingham, Conn., a distance of four and one-half miles. Just twenty years afterwards Thomas Stevens starts on his trip around the world on a bicycle, but it is a question whether he undertook his journey with more trepidation than did Lallement this one to Birmingham.

For the illustration of an incident in this first journey were indebted to the late Octave. The picture explains itself. This accident occurred while going down a hill. Lallement had no brake. He yelled in French to have an old farmer and his wagon give him room. The farmer, on turning round, spied the strange apparition that was evidently chasing him, jerked wildly on the reins, so that Lallement, to avoid collision with the bewildered driver, deflected his wheels to one side, taking what is technically called a "header," from which he carries a scar on his face to this day.

A man named Carroll advanced money to obtain a patent May 4, 1866. But did not have capital to manufacture it, nor could capital be secured. Lallement returned to France, where he found a manufacturer willing to assist him, and did, but the war of 1870 put a stop to their work. He afterwards received 10,000 francs for his interest in the American patent, which expired in 1883. Fortunes are being made in the manufacture of the "wheel" to-day, and its inventor plods along as an obscure but light-hearted factory hand.

Care for the Children

Children feel the debility of the changing seasons, even more than adults, and they become cross, peevish, and uncontrollable. The blood should be cleansed and the system invigorated by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. "Last Spring my two children were vaccinated. Soon after, they broke all out with running sores, so dreadful I thought I should lose them. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured them completely, and they have been healthy ever since. I do feel that Hood's Sarsaparilla saved my children to me." Mrs. C. L. Thompson, West Warren, Mass.

Purify the Blood

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by these peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence. "Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over." J. P. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass. "Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all others, and is worth its weight in gold." I. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

Great Reduction in Prices for 1886.

Goods are so low now that it can hardly be expected that there will be any further decline, so that those laying in full supplies will not likely be disappointed.

Coffee Down 2c, Tea Down 10c, Sugars Down 1-2c, Syrups Down 10c, Turkish Prunes Down 1c.

Best Rio Coffee down to 10c a pound; good Rio coffee down to 8c a pound; best Roasted Rio down to 12c a pound; Government Java, 20c; Roasted Java 25c.

TEAS Reduced in Proportion.

no more a luxury to buy Teas. When they were $1 and $2 per pound then of course the consumption of them was small, but now the price is so low that a good Tea can be bought at 20c per pound then they come within the reach of all. We are enabled to do so, so low simply in consequence of our immense trade. At times we sell two and three chests daily, and buying direct of the importers and selling direct to the consumers, enables us to save our customers the profits of the jobber, speculator and wholesale merchant which is at least 10 to 20 per cent.

Young Hyson, good, 30c; choice, 35c; best, 40c; Gunpowder, good, 30c; choice, 40c; best, 45c; Oolong of Black Tea, 30c; choice, 35c; best, 40c; Japan Tea, uncolored, 35c; choice, 40c; best, 45c; English Breakfast, good, 30c; best, 35c per pound.

SUGARS---White and Yellow, Down 1-2c.

Choice Yellow, 5 1/2c; Best Extra C, 6c; Coffee A, standard, 6 1/2c; Crushed and Powdered 7 1/2c; Cut Loaf and Granulated, 7 1/2c.

Syrups Reduced 10c a Gal.

Best Golden Drip, 40c per gallon; best Sorghum, 40c per gallon; best New Orleans, Molasses, 30c.

SMOKED MEATS AND PICKLED PORKS.

Best sugar cured ham, 10c per pound; Sugar cured shoulders, 6c per pound; Pickled pork 6c per pound; Breakfast bacon, best, 9c per pound.

SQUARE UP.

The Wabash Asked to Pay for the Michigan City Branch.

Wagner Swayne, trustee of the mortgage of the Indianapolis division (the I. P. and C. and the Michigan City and Indianapolis) of the Wabash, has filed a petition in the federal court, setting forth that he is operating the lines named; that when Solon Humphreys and Thomas E. Tutt were appointed receivers of the Wabash, they were ordered to keep separate accounts of the expenses and receipts of the various lines; that such an account would show a large balance due the lines he represents, and that in addition to this the Wabash has been using their rolling stock, and owe a large amount of mileage for the use of it. He asks for an accounting from the receivers, that they be ordered to give a detailed report of the operating expenses and earnings of the two lines, and that after this has been adjudged by the master in chancery, that the receivers be ordered to pay over to him the amount due from the Wabash. A formal order to this effect was entered by Judge Woods this morning, and the receivers were given thirty days in which to make the accounting.

Death of Dr. August Rath.

Died last night at 10 o'clock, Dr. August Rath, of dropsy of the heart, at his home on Barr street. He was sixty-eight years old and for about ten years has been a resident of this city, where he was well and so favorably known and prominent as a veterinary surgeon. The doctor was born at Hoof, Germany. He leaves five children, Julia married to Rev. Adam, of Dogobertshausen, Louisiana married to Prof. Albert Joest, of Fort Wayne, Julius living at Kansas City, Dr. Otto, at Philadelphia and Annam married to Mr. Anselm Fuebner, city editor of the Staatszeitung. His son Otto, who is assistant surgeon of a German hospital at Philadelphia, has been telegraphed for. The funeral will be announced to-morrow.

OUR FAVORITE.

Hon. Charles A. Munson for Auditor of State.

In the roll call at the democratic state convention, Allen county will present the name of Hon. Charles A. Munson for auditor of Indiana. Mr. Munson began his political career years ago as a member of the common council of Fort Wayne, and after serving in that body with distinction he was twice elected sheriff of this county by the handsomest majorities against the most formidable opposition. Mr. Munson's popularity never wanes. He is singularly free from faction politics and most admirably the man to poll an unprecedented vote in this county—the great democratic stronghold of the state.

Mr. Munson is a born leader and has the faculty of making friends. He is a tireless worker, a scholarly gentleman and is in full sympathy with the great principles and best aims of the democratic party. He is just the man to arouse enthusiasm, to organize and lead to victory the democracy of Indiana.

To this important end Allen county expects to contribute the lion's share, and with Mr. Munson on the state ticket such a majority can be promised as to preclude almost the possibility of defeat. The party must have more than its full strength and personal preference must be subordinate to political success. Mr. Munson has a host of friends in the state, but in northern Indiana he commands universal respect and is esteemed to the highest degree. From an humble start in life he has achieved success and prominence in business pursuits. His personal, political and business career is open as a book and clean as a coin from the mint. He is deserving of any and every recognition the party can give him and in each tribute to the gentleman THE SENTINEL voices the sentiment of the people of Allen county, who are heart and soul in his cause and the triumph of the democratic party, when it honors such men.

Dr. Younge Writes That There Will be no Tri-State Veterans' Reunion This Year.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 9, 1886. W. R. Emery, Esq., Ed. Huntington Democrat.

DEAR SIR.—I would most respectfully inform you that the Tri-State Veterans' association will not hold a reunion in this city this year. Generals Sherman, Logan and Rosecrans inform me, positively, that they will not attend a reunion here this year. Irresponsible parties are using the above matter as an advertising dodge to victimize the public. Please correct the error in the Democrat of this date. Yours truly, &c., J. W. YOUNGE, Adj. Gen. T. RATHER SAD.

Willie Howard Drowned in Spy Run.

Willie Howard, a lad something less than fifteen years of age, was bathing with a number of companions in Spy run, above the water works basin yesterday. He was seized with cramps and tumbled into the creek helpless. When his companions pulled him out he was dead. The body was taken to the jail and Henry Stelhorn, the assistant coroner, held an inquest.

CORNER STONE

Of St. Mary's Church Laid Yesterday.

The ceremony of blessing and laying the corner stone of St. Mary's Catholic church was performed yesterday afternoon by Right Rev. Bishop Dwenger, amid an immense concourse of people. The line of march by the many societies of the four Catholic churches of the city and New Haven, was as per program, published in these columns a few days since. Before carrying out the services of the ritual, the bishop preached on the "Divinely Established Church." Following the bishop, Father Meisner preached in German, on the "Temple of God."

The bishop was assisted by his vicar general, Very Rev. J. H. Brammer, by the diocesan chancellor, Rev. J. F. Lang; by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. H. Oechtering, and by the Revs. E. Koenig, A. B. Oechtering of Mishawaka, J. Becks, H. Meisner of Peru, A. Messman, B. Wiedan of New Haven, C. M. Romer and T. O'Leary.

Everything connected with the ceremony passed pleasantly. The Uniformed Knights made a gorgeous display, and the day will be memorable in the annals of the congregation. The new church will be of gothic architect, cruciform in shape, 65x180 feet.

THAT SUIT.

The Chicago Mercantile Agency Wants Boodle, Not a Retraction.

Harry C. Hanna is in the city, and speaking of his suit for damages at Le-gansport says he did not institute proceedings for libel against the Journal, but against George Forgy, who was the instigator of the charges published in that paper and who has a boodle. The Chicago Mercantile agency would like balm to the extent of $25,000. Mr. Hanna files the suit on behalf of Pembroke C. Perkins, of Chicago, whom Forgy not only defamed but assaulted in a very rude manner. The case will likely receive an airing at the September term of the circuit court. Mr. Perkins announces that he will make Forgy dance in a lively manner before he gets through with him, while Forgy declares that he isn't at all alarmed over Perkins' threats. The progress and result of the trial will be watched with interest.

Causes the Death of One Man and Injury to Four More.

PITTSBURGH, July 12.—A terrific mine explosion occurred yesterday afternoon at Buchtel, Ohio, which resulted in the instant death of one man and the fatal injury of several others. Johnson brothers, of the New Pittsburg mine, were preparing to start up to-day. The coal in this mine has to be gotten out by machinery. Yesterday afternoon a leak was discovered in the compressed air receiver, which furnishes the motive power, and Charles H. Johnson and Tom Williams went into the mine about 250 yards to repair it. They neglected to turn off the pressure and upon attempting to stop up the leak, the end of the receiver burst into fragments, knocking the machinery about and tearing up things generally. Following is a list of the killed and wounded:

Thomas Williams, instantly killed.
Charles H. Johnson, fatally injured.
John Hallam, fatally injured.
L. White, seriously injured.

A PORCH FALLS

And Precipitates 200 People to the Ground.

OAKLAND, Md., July 12.—Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, and the papal nuncio had a reception yesterday at a private residence. About 200 were crowded upon a large porch outside. Suddenly the porch gave way and the crowd fell in a mass among the broken timbers and debris. A scene of great excitement and dismay ensued. About a dozen persons were more or less seriously bruised and cut, but none hurt fatally.

A Canada Pacific Train Burned.

WINNEPEG, Manitoba, July 12.—A portion of the east-bound through express on the Canadian Pacific was burned in the Rocky Mountains, near Conrad, on Thursday night. The ties caught fire from burning timber, near the track and four of the cars were derailed, catching fire instantly. The baggage and express matter was burned and the passengers escaped with difficulty.

Supposed to be Insane.

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—A stranger was found last night wandering aimlessly around and was taken in charge by an officer. He was seventy-one years old with smooth face, long, white hair, well dressed and gave his name as Louis Diehl. $580.70 in money and a check for $5,000 on the First National bank of Logansport, Ind., was found upon his person.

Will Stick to Eight Hours.

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—At a meeting of about 300 carpenters to-day, a resolution was passed deciding to adhere to the eight-hour system. Another meeting will be held in order to get an expression on the question of all the carpenters in the city.

Another Orang Quarrel.

BELFAST, July 12.—During the Orange celebration here to-day a row was occasioned by the passage of a procession through one of the streets. One person was injured.

Railroad Iron for China.

BELFRA, July 12.—Herr Krupp has contracted to supply China with 1,500 tons of rails at a price, including freight, 25 shillings below the lowest English offer.

FRANCE

Arming Her Troops With Repeating Rifles.

PARIS, July 12.—The government has ordered 80,000 repeating rifles to be distributed among the troops before August. This action is attributed to the conduct of Germany in recently arming her battalion at Alsace-Lorraine with similar weapons.

Destructive Forest Fires.

LANCASTER, N. H., July 12.—Sparks from the engine on the Lowell railroad set the forest on fire between the Twin Mountain house and Fabhan's, and the woods have burned for several miles back into the wilderness. Acres of land have been burned over, beside a mile and a half of railroad, two long trestles, two logging camps and 2,000,000 feet of lumber.

TURNED OUT.

An Old Soldier Driven From the Home at Dayton, O.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., July 12, 1886.

To any Dayton newspaper that wants to publish this item:
A soldier, who was born and lived in the great state of Ohio, made application to the proper officials of the Soldiers Home, at Dayton, for admission to the home. Showing the necessary documents to the officials of said home, he was refused admittance, and even refused the honor of making his plea or seeing the great Governor Patrick of the home. He told the red tape officials that he had no money to go away with, so was compelled to stay. They told him they could not do anything for him and that he would be compelled to go. Having no money or friends in the vicinity he came to the conclusion (soldier like) to camp out all night on the grounds, which he thought was as much his home, and in a great many cases more so, than a great many other inmates at present. He slept in Congress hall until 2 o'clock a. m., when he was aroused by a stout robed guard, and taken to the limits of the home, shown the road to Miami-burg and told to "git," and of course he "got." After wandering around on account of meeting a guard on the road, of whom he inquired where he could stay all night, said guard sent him in the wrong way, thereby making him walk about two miles out of his way. He finally got the impression that he had been fooled and took his own course, landed in the city, but could get no bed. Fortune smiles, even if it does come from a hard working street car hostler. The hostler allowed the soldier—of nine hard fought battles, commencing with Shiloh and ending in the siege of Vicksburg, where he lost his left arm at the shoulder joint—to occupy one of the empty street cars, to get a little rest. From there he walked to Dayton, where in one of the common hotels he found board and lodging for a week until he could send home for money to take him away from the place where they erected a monument to the dead already. Hurrah for the next who dies (that is my version of it). I saw the Home. One motto I took notice of especially, which read like this: "Care for him who has borne the battle, and for his widow and orphan." I consider it a barren ideal. Any doctrine that is preached, and not practiced, certainly is not good.

P. S.—I should like all papers to copy, as the guards of the Home must vouch for the truth of my statement.

The two big stables of widow Damon, in Swan township, Noble county, burned last night, together with the horses, wheat, hay and farming implements enclosed in them. No insurance.

Manager J. H. Simonsen is at home from New York City.

The Columbus City Post thus refers to Mr. Dial whose death has been mentioned by THE SENTINEL: "Grandfather Dial, died at the residence of his son, John Dial in Washington township, on Thursday, July 1, 1886. He was the oldest person in the county being born July 4, 1790 and only lacked three days of being 96 years old. He was a soldier of the 1812 war and voted for James Madison for president that year. He outlived three generations of people, and saw the country grow from less than 4,000,000 souls to 60,000,000. In the first census of the United States completed in August, 1790, he was one of 3,920,215 souls in the country."

With Hon. Joseph E. McDonald.

He Is Positive in His Belief that Indiana Will Go Democratic This Fall.

The News and Gossip From Both Houses of Congress and the Capital.

HON. JOS. E. McDONALD.

Believes Indiana Will Go Democratic—His Candidacy.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 12.—Ex-Senator Joseph E. McDonald has returned home after a two weeks' visit at Washington. It was his intention to remain here some time, but in answer to a telegram calling him to Washington on private business, left for that city on an early train this morning. A Sentinel reporter called at his residence last evening and found the Senator in unusual good spirits and quite confident that the democrats would be victorious in the approaching Indiana campaign. In answer to a question as to whether there was any truth in the report lately put in circulation that he had expressed doubts on this matter he said:

"Any rumors that have been put afloat carrying the state at the approaching election are utterly groundless. On the contrary, I feel confident that we shall carry Indiana by a handsome majority and have a working majority in both branches of the legislature."

"Is it likely that the president will make changes in his cabinet?"

To this Senator McDonald replied: "In my judgment the president is not contemplating any change in his cabinet. All the rumors on the subject are mere rumors. I am very sure the president does not desire any change in the treasury department if there is any possibility of Mr. Manning's return to health. He has been a great and valuable support to Mr. Cleveland thus far, and it would be very difficult, if not impossible to supply his place, not only as a confidential friend, but as a very able cabinet officer. The president naturally feels that if Secretary Manning's health is restored so he could possibly go back, he hopes and believes that he will do so. I do not think any change is thought of in the attorney generalship."

Senator McDonald is of the opinion that congress will adjourn not later than the first of August. There is a strong feeling among congressmen to adjourn at the earliest day possible.

While Senator McDonald did not express himself on the subject it may be said here that his most intimate personal and political friends regard as absurd the rumor put afloat that his name would not likely be presented as a candidate for the United States senate. On the other hand they propose to make a vigorous fight for him in that direction.

WASHINGTON.

The News of the Day at the Capitol.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The senate committee on judiciary this morning agreed to report back the railroad attorney's bill, a majority of the committee consenting to a favorable report on it as it has been materially amended by the committee. Under its provisions congressmen may become attorneys for unbundled or land grant roads in suits between one company and another or between company and individual, but are prohibited from serving as attorneys in cases in which the government has an interest. Protection is extended to other than railroad interests so that congressmen may not serve any corporation as attorneys whose interests are or may become a subject of congressional legislation. The bill will probably be reported to-day or to-morrow.

The chair (by request) introduced a bill to stop all payments of public money to James H. Eads and his associates or assigns, for past, present or future work at the mouth of the Mississippi river, until further ordered by congress. Referred.

The senate resumed the consideration of the calendar. On motion of Mr. Hoar the committee on privileges and elections got permission, during the session of the senate, to report in consideration of the Payne case.

The house bill granting pensions to soldiers and sailors of the Mexican war was considered and passed.

Hugh S. Thompson, of South Carolina, qualified this morning as assistant secretary of the treasury and at noon was visited by all the bureau and division officers of the department, who were presented to him by Chief Clerk Youmans. He called at the white house during the day with Comptroller Trenchard and paid his respects to the president.

Went Over the Falls.

NEW YORK, July 12.—C. D. Graham, a native of Philadelphia, thirty-three years of age, succeeded in making the descent of Niagara Falls and passing through the celebrated whirlpool Sunday. He was imprisoned in a cask and sent over the falls. The cask struck a strong current and passed over the falls and through the whirlpool in which Captain Webb lost his life, rapidly, and Graham was released five miles below unhurt, save a few bruises.

British Politics.

LONDON, July 12.—Neither party has made any gains in the parliamentary elections to-day. The Tories now have elected 291 candidates, unionists 66, liberals 154 and Parnellites 74.

Lord Salisbury has made overtures to Lord Hartington for the formation of a coalition ministry, whose program shall include a local government bill for Ireland, Scotland and England.

Fresh Conflicts in Albania.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 12.—Fresh conflicts have taken place between Montenegrins and Albanians. The Montenegrin government has notified the port that Montenegrin will intervene with arms unless the port represses the Albanians.

VIEENNA, July 12.—In Trieste during the past twenty-four hours, two deaths have occurred from cholera and eight new cases were reported.

The Knights of Pythias.

TORONTO, Ont., July 12.—The Knights of Pythias divisions continue to arrive and the streets have a brilliant appearance as the uniformed divisions, led by their bands, march along. The reception committee are at their wits' end to find accommodations for several divisions which were not expected.

A Minister Bound Over.

BOSTON, July 12.—Rev. W. W. Downes was arranged this morning on a charge of bastardy preferred by Alice Wilson, and was bound over in the sum of $300 for trial in the present court.

An Explorer.

NEW YORK, July 12.—Colonel Gilder, a Herald representative, will start this evening on an exploring expedition of the unknown regions of the North American continent.

A Big Burglary.

CINCINNATI, July 12.—Burglars took $1,000 to $2,000 from the safe of the Consolidated Railway company this morning at Fifth and Walnut streets.

Up to noon yesterday there had been eight fires in Terre Haute within forty-eight hours, two of which were quite serious. Wednesday night the upper stories of Staub's livery stable were burned, involving a loss of $4,000. Yesterday morning the stable attached to the Filbeck house was burned, causing a loss of $2,000, on which there was $1,500 insurance, $750 of it in the Franklin of Indianapolis. Seven of the eight fires were in stables. About noon another alarm was turned in for a fire in the stable of Mr. H. Hulman. The loss was about $300.

CHOICE BITS.

The News That Is Culled for the "Sentinel" Readers.

The Purdue university trustees are now in session, and will probably take some action in regard to the troubles existing there.

A company has been organized at Kokomo, with a capital stock of $8,500, for the purpose of putting in the Thompson & Huston system of electric light.

A five-year old son of N. B. Jewell, of Vincennes, was seriously burned on one side, from head to foot, by setting his clothes on fire with matches. His condition is dangerous.

Rev. E. E. Dickenson, of Noble county, graduates of the Hillsdale college, Mich., has been elected president of Ridgeville college, and will take charge of that institution in September. Rev. S. D. Bates resigned on account of ill health.

The prohibition congressional convention of the Eleventh district nominated Hon. John Ballin, of Grant, for congress. He had been a life-long republican up to the organization of the prohibition party.

A number of gentlemen while prospecting for an oil well location, near Andrews, in a ravine, north of the village, came upon a spring which was flowing crude oil, as it were. The stream is as large as a man's arm. A well will be sunk on the spot.

Superintendent Holcombe has returned from a visit to the Northern Indiana normal school at Valparaiso. He reports that there is an actual attendance there of 1,500 students, and that there are 500 in one grammar class. Fifty thousand dollars will be spent there in improvements and new buildings this summer.

At Oswego, Kosciusko county, the eight-year-old daughter of H. E. Johnson was engaged in swinging, when her comrades wound up the swing, as is frequently done, leaving it to unwind itself she, of course, occupying the seat in the swing. After the unwinding process began, a wonderful velocity was imparted, and when it ceased she was found to be almost insensible, and died from the effects soon afterward.

George H. Post, postmaster at New Era, Dekalb county, was taken to Indianapolis charged with opening and detaining a registered letter addressed to Chas. H. Warner, of Payson, Ohio. He waived preliminary examination and gave a one-thousand-dollar bond for future appearance. Post has been postmaster for ten years and is a man of good standing. His offense is said to be not very serious.

JUDGE GARY, in the anarchist trials at Chicago, has made a number of good rulings as to the qualification of jurors. Although the words of this excellent Judge do not speed the course of justice in the cases, they may be cited as authority to expedite future trials. In one case Judge Gary decided that, because a man had formed an impression as to the guilt or innocence of accused parties from reading the newspapers, this need not disqualify him from serving as a juror. He held also that it was impossible for an intelligent man to read about any occurrence without forming some sort of an impression with regard to that occurrence. But the impression received would not prevent a man from arriving at an honest and fair judgment concerning the matter from the evidence offered to him.

Judge Gary has further ruled that because a man is prejudiced against some form of crime that is not a sufficient reason in law to object to his serving as a juror in a case when the person on trial is charged with such an offense. Every man fit to serve on a jury is presumed to have a natural antipathy against violation of the law.

An old stager who has shaken hands with many a lady of the White House, tells me how he likes the way Mrs. Cleveland shakes hands better than any President's lady of the past. Said he: "Mrs. Cleveland shakes hands as though she meant it. She looks you in the eye and tries to catch your good-will before she puts out her hand. She grasps it firmly and gives it a perceptible shake. She uses the whole arm, and does not shake only from the wrist or the elbow. Mrs. McElroy was too stiff and stick-like, Miss Cleveland turned her face away from you when she shook hands with you, and she did not appear to be at home. Mrs. Cleveland feels that she is doing the honors of the White House, and that she has a right to. She acts as a lady would not who was presiding over her own home, and she is apparently as cordial in her gestures."

New Zealand Villages Disappear From the Face of the Earth and Man and Beast Perish.

Lake Shore Freight Trains are Wrecked To-day by the Striking Switchmen.

THREATENED STRIKE.

The Packing House Employees Will Probably Strike.

CHICAGO, July 12.—It is asserted to-day that an extensive strike is threatened in the packing houses of this city.

The Lake Shore company transacted more business yesterday than it has on any other day during the strike. It handled 2,000 cars.

MORE TROUBLE.

About 4 o'clock this morning a switch on the Lake Shore road was turned at Forty-fifth street, while a local freight was passing, and several cars were derailed.

At noon another switch was turned and over twenty cars was run on to the Rock Island main track, and now the Rock Island and Lake Shore tracks are blocked.

AWFUL HAVOC.

Most Destructive Volcanic Eruptions and Earthquakes in the World's History.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The steamer Alameda, which arrived yesterday from Australia, brings particulars of the fearful volcanic eruptions in New Zealand last month, which are among the most destructive in the world's history. The first reports of volcanic disturbances came from Tauranga in Auckland Lake district. Mount Tareivera was the first volcano to break forth, and hardly were flames seen issuing from its crater than the entire Parnora range of mountains belched forth in sympathy, hurling flames of burning lava and stones over the surrounding country. For the first time in tradition the extinct volcano of Ruapehu was awakened into activity. The entire country over an extent of 120 miles by twenty in breadth was nothing but a mass of flame and hot, crumbling soil, which in places rose to a height of 4,000 feet.

Numerous small native villages were totally destroyed. Wairoa was covered to the depth of ten feet with dust and ashes. Rathamohau was completely engulfed, so were also some other small villages. One hundred and twenty persons are known to have lost their lives, among whom were several English residents.

The loss of cattle, started to death from destruction of pasture by dust, is very great, and great distress exists throughout all Auckland Lake district.

The Indiana Civil Service association has begun in earnest the collection of information bearing upon alleged abuses in the public institutions of Indiana, presumably for the purpose of having at command data that will tangibly establish the necessity of a state civil service law. The executive committee, headed by State Senator Foulke, met at the DeWison house, Indianapolis, Saturday last, and examined several witnesses touching the method in vogue at the insane hospital and other institutions. The evidence will be taken by a short-hand reporter and preserved.

Supt. George Slovins, General Master Mechanic Barnes, Judge James Cheney and others came here at noon in General Manager Talmage's private car, via the Wabash.

Joe Derheimer gave a bond for $163,000 as Little river contractor. This is a bigger bond than the law requires. Fred C. Boltz is a partner with Mr. Derheimer in the work.

Landlord Wilkinson, of the Commercial, had Alex. Munnell arrested for a board bill and Munnell had Wilkinson arrested for provoking. A change of venue from the city will be taken.

Before Judge Hensch to-day: William M. Rogers vs. Meyer N. Jacobs. Further evidence heard and finding for the defendant; judgment accordingly. Phoebe Bolinger vs. Jacob Bolinger. Evidence heard and petitioner granted a divorce, $500 alimony and a farm of forty acres and other minor affairs.

SQUARE UP.

The Wabash Asked to Pay for the Michigan City Branch.

Wagner Swayne, trustee of the mortgage of the Indianapolis division (the I. P. and C. and the Michigan City and Indianapolis) of the Wabash, has filed a petition in the federal court, setting forth that he is operating the lines named; that when Solon Humphreys and Thomas E. Tut were appointed receivers of the Wabash, they were ordered to keep separate accounts of the expenses and receipts of the various lines; that such an account would show a large balance due the lines he represents, and that in addition to this the Wabash has been using their rolling stock, and owe a large amount of mileage for the use of it. He asks for an accounting from the receivers, that they be ordered to give a detailed report of the operating expenses and earnings of the two lines, and that after this has been adjudged by the master in chancery, that the receivers be ordered to pay over to him the amount due from the Wabash. A formal order to this effect was entered by Judge Woods this morning, and the receivers were given thirty days in which to make the accounting.

Death of Dr. August Rath.

Died last night at 10 o'clock, Dr. August Rath, of dropsy of the heart, at his home on Barr street. He was sixty-eight years old and for about ten years has been a resident of this city, where he was well and so favorably known and prominent as a veterinary surgeon. The doctor was born at Hof, Germany. He leaves five children, Julia married to Rev. Adam, of Dogobershausen, Louisiana married to Prof. Albert Joost, of Fort Wayne, Julius living at Kansas City, Dr. Otto, at Philadelphia and Anna married to Mr. Anselm Faelber, city editor of the Staatszeitung. His son Otto, who is assistant surgeon of a German hospital at Philadelphia, has been telegraphed for. The funeral will be announced to-morrow.

OUR FAVORITE.

Hon. Charles A. Munson for Auditor of State.

In the roll call at the democratic state convention, Allen county will present the name of Hon. Charles A. Munson for auditor of Indiana. Mr. Munson began his political career years ago as a member of the common council of Fort Wayne, and after serving in that body with distinction he was twice elected sheriff of this county by the handsomest majorities against the most formidable opposition. Mr. Munson's popularity never wanes. He is singularly free from faction politics and most admirably the man to poll an unprecedented vote in this county—the great democratic stronghold of the state.

Mr. Munson is a born leader and has the faculty of making friends. He is a tireless worker, a scholarly gentleman and is in full sympathy with the great principles and best aims of the democratic party. He is just the man to arouse enthusiasm, to organize and lead to victory the democracy of Indiana.

To this important end Allen county expects to contribute the lion's share, and with Mr. Munson on the state ticket such a majority can be promised as to preclude almost the possibility of defeat. The party must have more than its full strength and personal preference must be subordinate to political success. Mr. Munson has a host of friends in the state, but in northern Indiana he commands universal respect and is esteemed to the highest degree.

From an humble start in life he has achieved success and prominence in business pursuits. His personal, political and business career is open as a book and clean as a coin from the mint. He is deserving of any and every recognition the party can give him and in each tribute to the gentleman THE SENTINEL voices the sentiment of the people of Allen county, who are heart and soul in his cause and the triumph of the democratic party, when it honors such men.

WILL SEE ABOUT IT.

Dr. Younger Writes That There Will be no Tri-State Veterans' Reunion This Year.

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 9, 1888.

W. R. Emery, Esq., Ed. Huntington Democrat.

DEAR SIR.—I would most respectfully inform you that the Tri-State Veterans' association will not hold a reunion in this city this year. Generals Sherman, Logan and Rosecrans inform me, positively, that they will not attend a reunion here this year. Irresponsible parties are using the above matter as an advertising dodge to victimize the public. Please correct the error in the Democrat of this date.

Yours truly, &c.,
J. W. YOUNGER,
Adj. Gen. T. S. V. A.

RATHER SAD.

Willie Howard Drowned in Spy Run.

Willie Howard, a lad something less than fifteen years of age, was bathing with a number of companions in Spy run, above the water works basin yesterday. He was seized with cramps and tumbled into the creek helpless. When his companions pulled him out he was dead. The body was taken to the jail and Henry Stellhorn, the assistant coroner, held an inquest.

Tramps are getting troublesome in the western part of the city.

Serofus diseases manifest themselves in the spring. Hood's Sarsaparilla cleanses the blood, and removes every taint of serofus.

CORNER STONE

Of St. Mary's Church Laid Yesterday.

The ceremony of blessing and laying the corner stone of St. Mary's Catholic church was performed yesterday afternoon by Right Rev. Bishop Dwenger, amid an immense concourse of people. The line of march by the many societies of the four Catholic churches of the city and New Haven, was as per program, published in these columns a few days since. Before carrying out the services of the ritual, the bishop preached on the "Divinely Established Church." Following the bishop, Father Meisner presided in German, on the "Temple of God."

The bishop was assisted by his vicar general, Very Rev. J. H. Brummer, by the diocesan chancellor, Rev. J. P. Lang; by the pastor of the church, Rev. J. H. Oechtering, and by the Revs. E. Koenig, A. B. Oechtering of Mishawaka, J. Beck, H. Meisner of Peru, A. Meisner, B. Wieden of New Haven, C. M. Romer and T. O'Leary.

Everything connected with the ceremony passed pleasantly. The Unformed Knights made a gorgeous display, and the day will be memorable in the annals of the congregation. The new church will be of gothic architect, cruciform in shape, 65x180 feet.

THAT SUIT.

The Chicago Mercantile Agency Wants Roodie, Not a Re- traction.

Harry C. Hanna is in the city, and speaking of his suit for damages at Le-guonport says he did not institute proceedings for libel against the Journal, but against George Forgy, who was the instigator of the charges published in that paper and who has a boudle. The Chicago Mercantile agency would like him to the extent of $25,000. Mr. Hanna files the suit on behalf of Pembroke C. Perkins, of Chicago, whom Forgy not only defamed but assaulted in a very rude manner. The case will likely receive an airing at the September term of the circuit court. Mr. Perkins announces that he will make Forgy dance in a lively manner before he gets through with him, while Forgy declares that he isn't at all alarmed over Perkins' threats. The progress and result of the trial will be watched with interest.
